September 27.—A license to operate the Sayville, L. I. wireless station as a "limited public service station" was issued yesterday by the Department of Caommerce. Correspondence with the department, made public last night, reveals the difficulties of wireless communications with Germany, the Sayville Station being virtually the only means of communication. The corespondence shows that for several days at a time it is impossible to communicate with Germany, and that messages often have to be repeated six or eight times to insure their being correct.

Assistant Secretary Sweet, of the department, wrote the Atlantic Communication, saying the license permitted operation in connection with the coast stations at Nauen and Allvese in Germany, and with the coast stations at Nauen and Allvese in Germany, and with the coast station at Cartagena, Colombia. The original license, issued for the station, permitted communication only with ships at sea. The new license allows the company to charge 75 cents per word for messages to Germany until January 1, 1915.

"I do not believe that the Baroness left as much as $2,000,000." said Miss Sheridan. "Although she never spoke of such matter, I believe her fortune amounted to about $1,000,000. She had a great quantity of securities and bonds. Once I remember when we were out driving, she stopped at her bank and spent one hour and thirty-five min-utes clipping coupons."

Miss Sheridan did not think that Mrs. Leslie had shown a very pronounced interest in suffrage.

She was very friendly, however, with Mrs. Frederick Nathan and other suf-

The imitator is like the counterfeiter. He enters the field of business with a cheaper, lower grade article of merchandise, made as a substitute for the genuine, and generally sold at a cheaper price, arguing, as usual, that it is "just as good." The dealer is persuaded to handle it on glowing promises of enormous profits-much larger than the regular legitimate profit which is made on the genuine article. The imitator succeeds in playing upon man's natural avarice, places his goods on sale with the dealer, and instructs him to take advantage of the public by substituting the false arti-cle for the genuine at every opportunity. You can be pretty sure that whenever you ask for a well-known product and the dealer tells you he has something else that's just as good, or even better, the dealer is going to make a freater profit on that article than the one you call for, and in nine cases out of ten you will get a much inferior article. Some buyers are easily imposed upon, and this encourages the "get-rich-quick" schemers to increase their substitutions. This also discourages the legitimate manufacturer who is putting out articles of merchandise that represent honest value to the censumer. Where a man has davoted years of his life in perfecting an article that he knows cannot be excelled in quality; where he hus spent thousands of dollars in advertising his goods; and where these goods have been giving universal satisfaction for a long time, great injury results by permitting aubstitution to tob him of his market and at the same time rob the consumer by selling him a doubtful article at practically the same price.

There is no law through which such evil practices can be stopped. The sole remedy is for the legitimate manufacturers to ask the public direct not to patronize dealers who try to substitute a different brand of encourages the "get-rich-quick"
